Lifeguard Interview Packet

This package includes the following:

- Lifeguard Job Application
- Federal Tax Form
- I-9 Form
- Hepatitis B Information, and Sign Off Form

In addition to filling out this information and bringing it with you on your interview you must also bring with you:

- Documents for your employer to complete the I-9 form (most common used are; passport or Driver's License and Social Security Card)

Interview Tips

Along with preparing information for the interview, you need to prepare yourself, too. Making a good first impression is very important. It starts with setting up an interview and filling out the application yourself, instead of having a friend or relative do it. To give an employer the best impression, follow some general guidelines:

- Be on time for the interview;
- Dress neatly, even when dropping off an application (shorts and sandals may come with the job, but while you're still an applicant, a sharper look is better);
- Be courteous and polite;
- Maintain eye contact;
- Avoid distracting habits (such as chewing gum, playing with hair or fidgeting);
- Smile;
- Listen;
- Be honest;
- Ask questions - this is one of the best ways to show you're really interested in the job. Questions may include topics such as duties, hours, benefits and pay

A lifeguard, by definition, has a legal duty to protect the safety of people in an assigned area. Lifeguards have a professional obligation to prevent potential accidents by enforcing the rules and regulations of an aquatic setting and to react to any emergencies that occur. To be a professional lifeguard, a person must have certain physical fitness, certification of lifeguard training, first aid, cardiopulmonary resuscitation and other requirements which may be tailored to the specific needs of the facility.

In addition to these requirements, however, lifeguards need certain personal characteristics, knowledge and skills to function effectively. Lifeguards must be caring, strong, quick to respond, confident, physically fit and intelligent persons with good interpersonal skills. Because of the hazardous duty of the lifeguard, some candidates with physical or mental conditions may be certified as lifeguards but may not be qualified for the job of a professional lifeguard. Lifeguards must have a high level of physical fitness at all times, including hearing, sight, speed, strength, endurance and flexibility, all of which are vital to a rescue. A professional lifeguard must be able to remain alert with no lapses in consciousness, be physically able to sit for extended periods, including in elevated chairs; communicate verbal including projecting the voice across large distances; be able to hear noises and sounds of distress even outside one's vision.

Lifeguards must have emotional stability and make sound decisions that conform to facility policies when dealing with difficult decisions since the decisions of a lifeguard may affect the total facility staff and the lives of others. Lifeguards must have a positive attitude in order to be able to fully cooperate with other guards in a team effort and adhere to rules and regulations in a successful operation of a facility. Lifeguards must have the physical and mental conditions necessary to be able to properly and timely activate the EMS system and complete the EMS system in the case of an emergency.

"I understand and agree that, if hired, my employment is for no definite period and may, regardless of the date of payment of my wages and salary, be terminated at any time without prior notice."

Form W-4 (2010)

Purpose. Complete Form W-4 so that your employer can withhold the correct federal income tax from your pay. Consider completing a new Form W-4 each year and when your personal or financial situation changes.

Exemption from withholding. If you are exempt, complete only lines 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 and sign the form to validate it. Your exemption for 2010 expires February 16, 2011. See Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Note. You cannot claim exemption from withholding if (a) your income exceeds $950 and includes more than $300 of unearned income (for example, interest and dividends) and (b) another person can claim you as a dependent on his or her tax return.

Basic instructions. If you are not exempt, complete the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. The worksheets on page 2 further adjust your withholding allowances based on itemized deductions, certain credits, adjustments to income, or two-earners/multiple jobs situations.

Complete all worksheets that apply. However, you may claim fewer (or zero) allowances. For regular wages, withholding must be based on allowances you claimed and may not be a flat amount or percentage of wages.

Head of household. Generally, you may claim head of household filing status on your tax return only if you are unmarried and pay more than 50% of the costs of keeping up a home for yourself and your dependent(s) or other qualifying individuals. See Pub. 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information, for information.

Tax credits. You can take projected tax credits into account in figuring your allowable number of withholding allowances. Credits for child or dependent care expenses and the child tax credit may be claimed using the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. See Pub. 919, How Do I Adjust My Tax Withholding, for information on converting your other credits into withholding allowances.

Nonwage income. If you have a large amount of nonwage income, such as interest or dividends, consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Otherwise, you may owe additional tax. If you have pension or annuity income, see Pub. 919 to find out if you should adjust your withholding on Form W-4 or W-4P.

Two earners or multiple jobs. If you have a working spouse or more than one job, figure the total number of allowances you are entitled to claim on all jobs using worksheets from only one Form W-4. Your withholding usually will be most accurate when all allowances are claimed on the Form W-4 for the highest paying job and zero allowances are claimed on the others. See Pub. 919 for details.

Nonresident alien. If you are a nonresident alien, see Notice 1392, Supplemental Form W-4 Instructions for Nonresident Aliens, before completing this form.

Check your withholding. After your Form W-4 takes effect, use Pub. 919 to see how the amount you are having withheld compares to your projected total tax for 2010. See Pub. 919, especially if your earnings exceed $130,000 (Single) or $180,000 (Married).

It is illegal to discriminate against any individual (other than an alien not authorized to work in the United States) in hiring, discharging, or recruiting or referring for a fee because of that individual's national origin or citizenship status. It is illegal to discriminate against work-authorized individuals. Employers CANNOT specify which document(s) they will accept from an employee. The refusal to hire an individual because the documents presented have a future expiration date may also constitute illegal discrimination. What Is the Purpose of This Form?

The purpose of this form is to document that each new employee (both citizen and noncitizen) hired after November 6, 1986, is authorized to work in the United States.

When Should Form I-9 Be Used?

All employees (citizens and noncitizens) hired after November 6, 1986, and working in the United States must complete Form I-9.

Filling Out Form I-9Section 1, Employee

This part of the form must be completed no later than the time of hire, which is the actual beginning of employment. Providing the Social Security Number is voluntary, except for employees hired by employers participating in the USCIS Electronic Employment Eligibility Verification Program (E-Verify). The employer is responsible for ensuring that Section 1 is timely and properly completed.

Noncitizen nationals of the United States are persons born in American Samoa, certain former citizens of the former Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, and certain children of noncitizen nationals born abroad.

Employers should note the work authorization expiration date (if any) shown in Section 1. For employees who indicate an employment authorization expiration date in Section 1, employers are required to reverify employment authorization for employment on or before the date shown. Note that some employees may leave the expiration date blank if they are aliens whose work authorization does not expire (e.g., asylees, refugees, certain citizens of the Federated States of Micronesia or the Republic of the Marshall Islands). For such employees, reverification does not apply unless they choose to present in Section 2 evidence of employment authorization that contains an expiration date (e.g., Employment Authorization Document (Form I-766)).

Preparer/Translator Certification

The Preparer/Translator Certification must be completed if Section 1 is prepared by a person other than the employee. A preparer/translator may be used only when the employee is unable to complete Section 1 on his or her own. However, the employee must still sign Section 1 personally.

Section 2, Employer

For the purpose of completing this form, the term "employer" means all employers including those recruiters and referrers for a fee who are agricultural associations, agricultural employers, or farm labor contractors. Employers must complete Section 2 by examining evidence of identity and employment authorization within three business days of the date employment begins. However, if an employer hires an individual for less than three business days, Section 2 must be completed at the time employment begins. Employers cannot specify which document(s) listed on the last page of Form I-9 employees present to establish identity and employment authorization. Employees may present any List A document OR a combination of a List B and a List C document.

If an employee is unable to present a required document (or documents), the employee must present an acceptable receipt in lieu of a document listed on the last page of this form. Receipts showing that a person has applied for an initial grant of employment authorization, or for renewal of employment authorization, are not acceptable. Employees must present receipts within three business days of the date employment begins and must present valid replacement documents within 90 days or other specified time.

Employers must record in Section 2:

1. Document title;
2. Issuing authority;
3. Document number;
4. Expiration date, if any; and
5. The date employment begins.

Employers must sign and date the certification in Section 2. Employees must present original documents. Employers may, but are not required to, photocopy the document(s) presented. If photocopies are made, they must be made for all new hires. Photocopies may only be used for the verification process and must be retained with Form I-9. Employers are still responsible for completing and retaining Form I-9.

For more detailed information, you may refer to the USCIS Handbook for Employers (Form M-274). You may obtain the handbook using the contact information found under the header "USCIS Forms and Information."

Section 3, Updating and Reverification

Employers must complete Section 3 when updating and/or reverifying Form I-9. Employers must reverifiy employment authorization of their employees on or before the work authorization expiration date recorded in Section 1 (if any). Employers CANNOT specify which document(s) they will accept from an employee.

- A. If an employee's name has changed at the time this form is being updated/reverified, complete Block A.
- B. If an employee is rehired within three years of the date this form was originally completed and the employee is still authorized to be employed on the same basis as previously indicated on this form (updating), complete Block B and the signature block.
- C. If an employee is rehired within three years of the date this form was originally completed and the employee's work authorization has expired or if a current employee's work authorization is about to expire (reverification), complete Block B; and:
 - 1. Examine any document that reflects the employee is authorized to work in the United States (see List A or C);
 - 2. Record the document title, document number, and expiration date (if any) in Block C; and
 - 3. Complete the signature block.

Note that for reverification purposes, employers have the option of completing a new Form I-9 instead of completing Section 3.

What Is the Filing Fee?

There is no associated filing fee for completing Form I-9. This form is not filed with USCIS or any government agency. Form I-9 must be retained by the employer and made available for inspection by U.S. Government officials as specified in the Privacy Act Notice below.

Hepatitis B Vaccine Information/Declination/Acceptance Form

Hepatitis B infection is a viral infection of the liver which may be transmitted from person to person by direct contact with blood/body fluids, secretions, or excretions of the infected person. This can be transmitted from individuals who are carriers of the disease to facility personnel. A carrier of Hepatitis B is defined as a person who may or may not have symptoms of the infection, and in whom the virus remains alive in the blood or other body fluids. Hepatitis B infections may result in chronic infection of the liver, cirrhosis, and less frequently, liver cancer.

The Hepatitis vaccine is recommended for persons who are or will be at increased risk of infection with Hepatitis B virus, including those in our profession. A synthetic Hepatitis B vaccine is available from our source and provides protection against infection in approximately 90% of those receiving it. The vaccine is prepared from recombinant yeast cultures and is free of association with human blood or blood products. The vaccination consists of three intramuscular injections, the second and third injections of the vaccine being given at one and six month intervals respectively after the first injection. It is important that those volunteering to be immunized against Hepatitis B be responsible for following the immunization schedule established. Compliance with the immunization schedule is the sole responsibility of the employee. For seasonal employees if any of the injections are scheduled while not employed it is the employee's responsibility for the cost.

The Hepatitis vaccine is generally well-tolerated. Side effects that haven reported as most commonly occurring with this vaccine have been: soreness and redness at the site of injection, and low grade fever, for one to two days following the injection. There may be other slight, moderate, or severe reactions that have sometimes been associated with vaccination, e.g. fainting and hypersensitivity reactions (anaphylaxis, arthritis, skin reactions, and other possible reactions). Other uncommon potential adverse effects include neurological and blood disorders, and visual disturbances. Persons with known hypersensitivity to yeast or any component of the vaccine should not accept the vaccine. It is recommended that you discuss the vaccine with your physicians, especially if you have other health problem.

The vaccine should be delayed if you have a serious active infection, except when withholding the vaccine entails a greater risk. If you are pregnant, breastfeeding, or suspect pregnancy at any time during the six month vaccination period, you must obtain authorization from your obstetrician to initiate or continue the vaccination procedure. The vaccination series is offered to employees at no cost to those identified by administration as being at risk of occupational exposure.

Consent

I have read and understand the above information, am aware of the benefits of the vaccine, and am aware of possible side effects. I request to be immunized against Hepatitis B. I fully understand my responsibility associated with the immunization schedule.

Declination

I understand that due to my occupational exposure to blood or other potentially infectious materials I may be at risk of acquiring Hepatitis B Virus (HBV) infection. I have been given the opportunity to be vaccinated with Hepatitis B vaccine at no cost to myself. However, I decline the Hepatitis B vaccination at this time. I understand that by declining this vaccine, I continue to be at risk of acquiring Hepatitis B, a serious disease. If in the future, I continue to have occupational exposure to blood or other potentially infectious materials and I want to be vaccinated with a Hepatitis B vaccine, I can receive the vaccination series at no charge to me.
